Welcome to The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas, and to the Advanced Estate Planning Strategies Conference. We are excited that you have decided to invest the time to be here and looking forward to making your experience memorable.

The strength of our association lies with YOU, our members. At this conference you’ll have ample opportunities to interact with your peers, and with some of the best and brightest speakers, authors, and thought leaders from around the country. Your experience will be whatever you make of it. Please plan to take advantage of everything there is to see and do, and immerse yourself in all the activities and events.

NAEPC has been doing a lot of soul searching lately about what makes our association distinctive and how that uniqueness benefits our member councils, their members, and the Accredited Estate Planner® (AEP®) designees.

First, I believe we are an association of leaders, and many of those leaders attend this conference year-after-year because it’s a great opportunity to make new acquaintances and reminisce with old friends. It’s also a chance to catch up with those who have demonstrated leadership by earning the AEP® designation, the only graduate-level specialization in estate planning, which extends beyond the requirements of one’s primary degree, designation, or discipline. It’s also the best time each year to visit with other members of councils who show their leadership by actively contributing to their estate planning council. Council leaders invest their time and share their talents while engaging interactively locally and here at Council Leadership Day or at one of the many Regional Leadership Days. These examples of leadership ultimately contribute to the success of the profession, excellent client service, and stronger communities.

Second, we are all committed to teamwork and working together within multidisciplinary teams. Within “High-Performance Teaming & Professional Collaboration: A Multi-Disciplinary Team Approach to Estate Planning”, NAEPC has articulated a model and best practices for initiating and facilitating effective collaboration. This model serves as a guiding star, as well as a lens through which we can view our activities and relationships, and is embraced by those who possess strong leadership qualities. If you have not already read the white paper, I encourage you to do so today. Take this opportunity to speak with others to see how they are integrating collaboration to promote excellence in estate planning.

Third, we share a devotion to lifelong learning. We listen to and learn from one other about how to evolve and grow as professionals, as do the councils with one another. This collaboration at its core is a learning experience, which enables us to address issues and concerns and is how we identify and take advantage of opportunities. This conference is just one of the many ways in which we provide exceptional resources and unsurpassed education.

I believe the essence of what makes NAEPC unique is our relationship with one another, whether those relationships are member to member, council to member, or council to council. Through all, we offer one another support, listen to and learn from one another, and accomplish things together that we simply could not on our own. I know of no better opportunity to realize this benefit than attending and engaging fully here at the conference.

The Association of Choice for Estate Planning Professionals
There is no doubt that your membership in NAEPC provides tremendous value. However, not all of us are taking full advantage of the many opportunities. I am pleased to offer this unaudited financial report of the National Association of Estate Planners & Councils.

This report is designed to give our member councils an overview of the financial health of our organization. Just like the local councils we serve, the national organization is dedicated to conservative stewardship of the member dues and fees we receive and services we provide.

The board of directors continues its work to build a reserve of one year of operating expenses, which will ensure that the organization is stable for years to come.

Accredited Estate Planner® Committee Report
John T. Midgett, JD, AEP®, Committee Chair
Ginger F. Mlakar, JD, AEP®, Committee Vice-Chair

The mission of the NAEPC and the Accredited Estate Planner® (AEP®) designation program is to promote excellence in estate planning, professionalism, and the team concept among credentialed professionals. To this end, the AEP® Committee devotes their time to issues specific to governance, support, and promotion of the AEP® designation program.

Some of our efforts this year included:

- Support of the AEP® Council Nomination program and recognition of creative initiatives sponsored by local councils to introduce qualified members to the AEP® designation program - including the $500 “Social in a Box” stipend that assists local councils in sparking interest in the AEP® designation program within their home community.

- Institution of the “Pick 6” initiative to encourage Board Members to recognize and nominate worthy candidates for the AEP® designation.

- An ongoing commitment to furthering recognition of the AEP® designation in the private and public sector.

- A permanent sub-committee continues to review qualifications and requirements for the AEP® designation program. We warmly welcome qualified professionals who have been in active practice for a minimum of five years within the disciplines of accounting, insurance / financial planning, law, philanthropy, or trust services and who hold one or more of the below professional credentials to consider membership. You can learn more about the designation and its requirements at www.naepc.org/AEP. At this time, JD (active law license required if this is the only designation with which one is applying), CPA, CLU®, CFP®, ChFC®, CPWA®, CFA, CAP®, CSPG, CTFA, MSFS, and MST are recognized credentials for eligibility for the AEP® designation.

- Adoption of revised guidelines for the years of experience to qualify for the AEP® designation and slight changes to the application:
  - Reduce the number of years of experience required for special nominations (board, council, or past president) to 10 years
  - Maintain the current experience requirements for self-nominating applicants – a minimum of 5 years of experience with successful completion of two graduate-level courses; those applicants with 15 years of experience or more may “opt out” of the coursework requirement
  - Add a section to the application where applicants are asked to share what the AEP® designation means to them and why they are seeking it; they will provide written text in response to the prompt of “What I believe...” While this section of the application is informational and will not be used to disqualify an applicant, we hope that the responses will help NAEPC learn more about why the designation is meaningful to that individual and the information gathered within these responses may be helpful to NAEPC.

- Adoption of the designation’s official value proposition:

  The AEP® designation signifies peer recognition for having achieved advanced knowledge, the highest ethical standards and reputation, and a commitment to working collaboratively with professionals of other disciplines to accomplish each client’s goals.

The Association of Choice for Estate Planning Professionals
Support of the editorial board for “The Technical Corner” in the AEP® ALERT. All designees are encouraged to submit an article for publication!

Welcome to Las Vegas and the 56th Annual NAEPC Advanced Estate Planning Strategies Conference with Pre-Conference Sessions for Council Leaders. We are thrilled to be with you at the beautiful Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas. With the second year of our new program schedule, we are now able to offer additional continuing education and flexibility to enjoy this location.

This year’s conference provides even more opportunities to socialize and network with professionals from around the country in a uniquely intimate setting. In addition, you will share with, and learn from, leading experts in the areas of law, accounting, insurance, financial planning, trust services, and philanthropy. Our conference has become well known for the quality of its multi-disciplinary programs, and our speakers are among the best and brightest in the business. You will hear about cutting edge tools and techniques, creative strategies and solutions, as well as industry trends and developments.

Council Leadership Day provides an opportunity to share best practices with other council leaders across the country. Starting with last year, we have redesigned this day to offer more time for conversations with other leaders along with learning pod sessions for hot topics and new ideas for your councils.

All attendees are invited to join us both at the Opening Reception on Tuesday evening, November 5th, in the Exhibit Hall before we begin our two and a half days of continuing education, offering up to 17 hours of CE*, and at the Welcome Reception on Wednesday evening, November 6th, also in the Exhibit Hall. We hope that a short visit with some of our exhibitors will further enhance your professional practice.

If you have not yet pursued the AEP® designation, we will host a concurrent informational session on Friday morning: “The Accredited Estate Planner® Designation Program from A-Z.” This program is offered for those interested in learning more about the AEP® designation and will provide an overview of the program and offer an opportunity to have your questions answered by the experts at NAEPC. Please reference your conference “pocket guide” for information about the location and timing of these events, and all events and meeting locations throughout the conference.

Our surveys confirm the value the conference provides, and the benefits that accrue to all attendees. Please help us spread the word, and grow our conference. As always, we are most interested in hearing from you. Many of our best ideas come from attendees and participants so please provide your feedback within a survey that will arrive in your email inbox on Friday, November 8th.

Looking forward to next year, we are very excited to take our program back to Ft. Lauderdale at the Marriott Harbor Beach Resort & Spa. We have committed to a four year rotation between Ft. Lauderdale and Las Vegas and we are excited that this new format enables our attendees to enjoy the continuity of two wonderful and different host cities and hotels.

Regional Leadership Days were held in Bergen County, New Jersey, Atlanta, Georgia, and Denver, Colorado during the month of June. Over 65 individual attended these events and shared amazing ideas and best practices. Locations for next year will be announced soon. Learn more about Regional Leadership Day at http://www.naepc.org/affiliated-councils/regional-leadership-day.

Our Council of Excellence sub-committee continued its work this year, spending time together prior to the release of the application reviewing it and making improvements, which was followed by the review of nearly 30 excellent applications. It is always a great thrill to see what member councils are doing and how they are innovating, and it’s also very helpful to learn about the challenges they face. Councils are reviewed using a combination of the check marks completed on the application, which accounts for the most significant percentage of the overall points, as well as the narrative sections and additional information provided with the submission. Please join in thanking those who joined us on the sub-committee for their work; these individuals dedicated hours of their time to meetings and reviewing the applications.

Achieving and effectively managing team collaboration is at the core of the National Association of Estate Planners & Councils and the Accredited Estate Planner® (AEP®) designees’ mission. Helping clients make clear and committed estate & financial planning decisions requires harnessing the collective wisdom of the multi-disciplinary team. More than ever, multi-disciplinary teams must commit to actively engaging in collaboration. To that order, accomplishments this year include the following:

The committee adopted the following value proposition:

The Multi-Disciplinary Teaming Committee provides resources to educate, motivate, and equip members to collaborate effectively.

This value proposition was implemented three ways:

1) The Teaming “Tools” Sub-Committee is working on a flow chart and checklist to guide those who are new to teaming. Committee members Michael B. Karwic, CFP®, AEP®, CRPC®, CeFT and Jeffrey M. Turner, CFP®, CLU®, ChFC®, MBA, AEP® are the leads. Committee vice-chair Philip B. Cubeta, CLU®, ChFC®, MSFS, CAP®, AEP® has assisted.

2) The Case Study Sub-Committee organized “The Melton Case: Climbing the Philanthropic Learning Curve,” presented by Philip B. Cubeta, CLU®, ChFC®, CAP®, AEP®, Tony Macklin, CAP®, and Jennie Zioncheck, CAP®, MFT via a Trusts & Estates webinar, which was sponsored by NAEPC and the Accredited Estate Planner® designation. The case illustrates the need to include philanthropic consultants in cases involving charitable tools like a foundation or a larger donor advised fund to address family dynamics and effective grant-making. The webinar generated several hundred “warm leads” for the AEP® designation program. For this special program, Philip B. Cubeta, CLU®, ChFC®, MSFS, CAP®, AEP® took the lead and was assisted by committee members Kit MacNee, CFP®, CRPC®, AEP®, CSPG® and Hartman Axley, CLU®, ChFC®, JD, CFP®, MSFS, RHU, AEP® (Distinguished).

3) In addition, the Multi-Disciplinary Teaming Committee as a whole has committed to a series of short vignettes for the NAEPC New Newsletter. The “Collaboration Corner” will illustrate how well teaming can work, or what can be learned from cases in which teaming did not work, or was not used. Three of these cases studies have been submitted with more on the way. Susan Travis, CFP®, AEP®, CTFA has been the lead, enlisting the commitment of all Multi-Disciplinary Teaming Committee members.

The committee will continue these projects in working toward actuation of collaboration.
56th Annual NAEPC
Advanced Estate Planning Strategies Conference

Member Benefits Overview

Membership in NAEPC offers councils and their members a wealth of benefits, including “value partners”, firms that provide services and products at a discounted price in several categories.

Please tell me more!

This dynamic and valuable list of value partners is available in one of two places for council members. First, for those councils that have a website hosted through NAEPC, the list can be found right on the local council’s website. For those councils that do not have a website through NAEPC, the list can be accessed at http://www.naepc.org/membership/benefits. All members must utilize a user name/password to access a limited number of password-protected ordering links and information. If your council has a website hosted through NAEPC and utilizes passwords, its members can use their local user name and password. Other councils should contact NAEPC to obtain the appropriate user name and password combination for their council and must use the national site to access the benefits.

This was a very busy year for the NAEPC Publications Committee. The committee eagerly adopted not only three, but four goals for the NAEPC Journal of Estate & Tax Planning, our flagship publication with a mission to maintain a best-in-class library of thought leadership curated for the estate planning professional. While this mission is currently being reviewed, we do believe it accurately captures the spirit of the publication and the wealth of information included within current and past issues. Our 2019 goals are:

1. Consider acquiring submissions from individuals interested in becoming an author using Martin Shenkman’s offer to assist.
2. Decide upon a vetting process.
3. Encourage a focus on diversity.
4. Finalize submission guidelines.

September 2019 Online Writing Workshop for the NAEPC Journal of Estate & Tax Planning

Hosted by Martin Shenkman, CPA/PFS, MBA, JD, AEP® (Distinguished)

Goal 1 is well under way with a collaborative article currently being drafted with committee and board member Martin Shenkman’s leadership. Marty has graciously offered his time to work with five individuals, including Publications Committee members. We will be working to expand on this goal to encourage young authors and councils to submit articles from their members. This concept could also be applied at the council level to assist in increasing the number of next-gen members or by encouraging multi-disciplinary teams of council members to author articles for their council for publication in the Journal.

Vetting

Goal 2 is progressing as well. Debatable articles are circulated among Committee Members and discussed on our committee calls. So far we have rejected one such article and have chosen to include another.

Requests for Submission

Publication Committee members are asked to submit articles of interest for consideration in advance of each new issue. This has been successful in generating a variety of topic areas which fosters goal 3, a focus on diversity.

Expanded Disclaimer Language Adopted

“The opinions expressed in this publication do not necessarily represent the opinions of NAEPC, its Officers, Board of Directors or its various committees. NAEPC does not provide legal, tax, accounting or financial advice and these materials are published solely to provide a diversity of thought and information on topics involving wealth planning, tax, estate and gift planning, estate and trust administration and philanthropy.”

Journal Page Update

A revision to the look and feel of the Journal website is underway and we are eager to align it with the look and feel of the association’s primary website, www.NAEPC.org. In addition, we are hoping to make it easier for readers to view the contents to encourage readership of numerous articles.
AEP® Top Pick

Authors whose articles are chosen as the AEP® Top Pick receive a written letter of congratulations. Martin Shenkman’s articles have consistently won the AEP® Top Pick award and this year we were excited to welcome another author into the winner’s circle:

Income Tax Planning Using Estate Planning Techniques

This article provides a comprehensive review on dual purpose planning strategies, including key diagrams and financial illustrations.

Author: S. Stacy Eastland JD, AEP® (Distinguished)

This short lived streak was soon followed by another winner from Marty!

Estate and Tax Planning Roadmap for 2019-2020

Key Metrics

The most recent issue enjoyed an open rate of 24.40%, which is our highest to date and represents an increase of close to 1% over the previous issue. We have instituted a new “In Case You Missed This” announcement that comes out one to two weeks following the initial release of each new Journal as a test run. We will track the open rate on the second announcement to determine if the follow up email is valuable.

Activity for the most recent quarter reported includes 69,433 sessions and 43,159 page views. At close to 70,000, we have broken our own record for sessions. To date this year we have met last year’s goal of exceeding 90,000 sessions.

Another Great Year!

The excellent and engaged committee welcomed a new Co-Chair, Ryan P. Laughlin, CPA, MST, JD, AEP® at the beginning of the year. We would also like to share a special thank you with all board members who share articles of interest, to the Publications Committee members for their time and innovative thinking, to our webmaster, Bruce Newburger, for his invaluable experience and guidance, and to Eleanor M. Spuhler for her patience, support and good cheer, hurricanes not withstanding!
The NAEPC Webinar Committee has completed six years of monthly webinars; bringing to our designees, member councils, and their members “the best of the best, of the best” in speakers and topics, as prescribed by its originator, Robert (Bobby) Alexander. The committee members, listed at the beginning of this packet, have done an excellent job and committed a great deal of time and energy to making the program compelling and successful. We continue to look for ways to increase attendance and subscribership and look forward to developing strategies to expand our support to local professionals.

The list of outstanding estate planning professionals who have volunteered their time and expertise is quite remarkable. NAEPC has created one of the finest archives of professional estate planning content available anywhere. We thank all of you, especially our volunteer presenters, for your interest, involvement, and support.

The one-hour webinar programs are typically offered monthly on the 2nd Wednesday at 3:00 pm ET, excepting the November conference month. Nearly all webinars are archived for playback at the listener’s convenience. They have become a favorite for many councils as a group learning/discussion activity that often allows the members to hear from experts who are otherwise difficult and sometimes impossible to schedule for a local event. It is also possible to arrange satellite locations to facilitate such local presentations.

Continuing education credit is best made available when local councils apply for credit within their home state (or for the various governing bodies) for programs hosted in a group setting or when individual attendees are able to self-file. Of course, continuing education credit for the Accredited Estate Planner® (AEP®) designation is available at nearly every webinar.

The single-event registration fee is only $40 per session for Accredited Estate Planner® designees whose dues are current, $60 for members of an affiliated local estate planning council or at-large members of NAEPC, $100 for individual non-members, and $250 for a council meeting or group gathering for councils whose annual dues are current. Periodically throughout the season special webinars are also provided at no cost.

Discount Subscriptions
Discounts are available to individuals and councils preferring to make a single payment for the entire year of webinars which can be viewed at the subscriber’s convenience or on the live date and time. Savings are significant! You can easily subscribe for the season on our website.

Final 2019 Program
Our final webinar for 2019 will be on Wednesday, December 11, 2019 from 3:00 pm – 4:00 pm ET with Cynthia L. Hutchins, CRPC, CIMA speaking on Longevity.

Looking Ahead
The committee is hard at work developing a schedule for events for the coming year that is relevant and timely. Just as in prior years, you can expect to hear from the leading experts in our profession who will share their thoughts on important and cutting-edge topics. Please let our national office know if you’d like to be first on the list to receive notification of the 2019 schedule.

Our webinar series for 2020 is scheduled through June. Please visit us at naepc.org/events/webinar to view the schedule and register.

The Association of Choice for Estate Planning Professionals
Website & Technology Committee Report
Eido M. Walny, JD, AEP®, EPLS, Committee Co-Chair
Robert P. Goodman, CPA, AEP®, CFP®, Committee Co-Chair

We thank our affiliated local councils, and particularly those that subscribe to our website services, for another exceptional year!

The Website & Technology Committee is a committed and hard-working group of individuals that comes together to serve NAEPC's members and councils in the best manner possible and allows the association to be a central point of communication with councils and their members, the national association, the public, and other interested parties. The bond with the designees and the councils and their members continues to strengthen through collaboration.

We continue to hit new records with regard to the number of councils subscribing to the website platform, both large and small, and more councils continue to see the benefit of moving to our more sophisticated level IV platform.

The affiliated councils remain the primary source for new features and enhancements to the system as the committee enhances and improves the website and its features and functionality. For many subscribers, the website is the sole source of local member data and the administration “hub” for their council, so we consistently add features that enhance efficiency for this purpose. The value of the website service continues to be competitive in the marketplace and an overwhelming favorite in terms of value. We also continue to prioritize security in all that we do.

The committee is constantly working on ways to improve the interaction with members via the website and also improve the overall website experience. Here is a snapshot of some of the new features we’ve implemented since the last annual conference:

- Added a new Level 1 website service platform.
- Scheduling of email and text communications.
- Broadcast texting.
- A new form that allows guests to join the council’s mailing list.
- Conversion of all council websites to HTTPS, which is important in our efforts to keep council sites in PCI compliance.
- Administrative functions to cancel duplicate or unfinished renewals and applications.
- Improved matching of RSVPs and Renewals to members that did not log in to complete these transactions.
- New revenue reporting features that shows transactions by date period.
- Ongoing monitoring and action with PCI Compliance needs related to credit card processing.
- Redesign of the NAEPC Journal of Estate & Tax Planning website to be mobile friendly and more administrable.

We are extremely grateful for our long-serving webmaster, Bruce Newburger, and trust you will enjoy his learning pod sessions on Council Leadership Day. Also please thank the entire committee as you see them throughout the conference; the list of all members can be found at the beginning of this packet.
